Total Surahs in the Quran = 114

The scholars of Islam divided the Quran in 30 parts (for reading facility) during the 30 days of Ramadhan in Taraweeh = si-parah in Persian means = 30 (thirty) parts (Juz in Arabic).

Every Surah was divided by early scholars in (ruku'u) parts for recitation in Namaz (ruku').before going for Ruku'u (bending with hands on knees). Total Number of Ruku is = 558

Total Ayat in the Quran (is not 6666 as mistakenly popularly known) erroneously attributed to Jamhoor conjecture. (The best way to come to grips with error to write down the number of verses at the end of every surah and sum up the total. There is no piety or intelligence in promoting the wrong information.

a. According to Jamahoor (popular) thinking / erroneous conjecture ظن = 6666 (which is not correct)
b. According to Kufi scholars, alluded to Ali Murtadha RA= 6236
c According to Basari Scholars]= 6233
d. According to Masahaf in our hands in Pakistan, Syria, Egypt, Arabia= 6234

(These differences between 6233 and 6236 are due to counting of verses—sometimes

Total numbers of Words= A. As counted above = 82610

B. According to Atta bin Yasar = 77439

Total Number of Letters= A. As counted above = 361868

B. According to Ibn Abbas (RA)= 323671

C. According to Mujahid (RA) = 321120

D. According to Abdulllah Masood (RA)= 322670

The above figures were provided by early scholars who counted words and letters out of their love for the Quran. In modern times, the computer can provide exact number of words and letters – but one has to be careful about the following reasons of variations:

1. Earlier scholars usually did not count wa (meaning ‘and’) as separate words—wa maa in wa maa adraaka was counted as one word.
2. There are many alifs – at the beginning and/or end of words which may or may not have been counted. Similarly alif and lam (ابصورا، والشمس)
3. Many other similar variations might affect the number.

Muslims also need to be careful not to get involved in too much self righteousness as one scholar of Egypt was amazed at number 19 in Quran—which seemed to him to be a ‘revelation’ to him – and he eventually exaggerated his claim.

For classification the Makkan surahs are subdivided into four groups:

Very Early,

Early,

Middle and Late.

Although the historical data and traditions are insufficient for a strict chronological grouping,

(1) the very early Makki surahs are, roughly speaking, those revealed before the beginning of the persecution of Muslims by the Quraish;

(2) the early Makki surahs are those revealed between the beginning of the persecution and the conversion of Umar ibn Khattab (RA);

(3) the middle Makki surahs are those revealed between the conversion of Umar and the destruction of the deed of ostracism (boycott) by whiteants in Ka’abah;

(4) and the lateMakki surahs are those revealed between the raising of the ban of ostracism and the Hijrah.

Ilm [knowledge] of the Quran and about Quran is vast and unlimited. You should have the freedom of finding out and exploring whatever you want to find out. Don’t let anybody tell you, this knowledge or that knowledge is not relevant or pertinent to your life. We know that not all knowledge is necessary for every one. The prophet sought protection against ilm that is not beneficial (to oneself or to humanity or Allah’s creation)

Muhammad Umar Chand
